

Dear Researchers,

We are glad to announce that the latest issue of IJOES (Volume 10 Issue 5) has been published and it can be accessible on the journal's website. There are 20 research articles in the latest issue and they are freely accessible for scholars, students or readers from all over the World.

We are planning to publish a special issue for IOJES journal in 2019. We would be pleased to receive special issue proposals from noted international researchers. The special issue proposal should be within the scope of the journal (see 'about the journal' section: <http://www.iojes.net/Defaultx.aspx?SID=21>). If a proposal is accepted by the editorial board, the owner of the proposal will be invited as the lead guest editor for the special issue. Interested researchers are kindly requested to send their detailed CV with recent publication list and Proposals to editor@iojes.net.

We would like to thank our authors, reviewers, editorial team and assistant editors for their invaluable contributions. We expect you to support IOJES by submitting your studies.

Best Regards.