

Dear researchers,

We are pleased to prepare May (2019) issue of our journal in collaboration with all of our authors, reviewers and editors.

International Journal of Educational Sciences (IOJES) have made great contributions to the field of educational sciences in terms of both theory and practice. In our latest issues, we aim to reach international audience by increasing number of articles authored in English. In this context, we are pleased to observe that our journal is being cited internationally.

As our previous issues, this issue also contains quantitative studies which are solid in terms of theory, action researches and experimental studies. The feedback we get from our readers is going to bring this journal to a better place. Thus, opinions and suggestions of our readers are valuable to us.

We express our gratitude to our referees for contributing to regularity of our journal. We are going to be pleased to see your new articles at our journal.

Best regards.
