

Dear Researchers,

It is a great pleasure for us to publish International Online Journal of Educational Sciences' first issue in 2019. Our journal has been contributing to the field of Educational Sciences for ten years. Our purpose is to help the field of Educational Sciences develop its both theoretical and practical dimensions. We thank our authors, reviewers and other staff who have been putting their hardwork to this purpose.

In this issue, we have published distinguished articles authored by scholars from all over the world. We believe that these articles are going to make great contributions to both theoretical and practical dimensions of Educational Sciences.

Besides, we are getting positive feedbacks of our work to be able to indexed by other renowned databases. We will also share this information with you as soon as the process reaches to an end. In this context, it is a great pleasure for us to get your feedback about this topic.

Best regards.
